Former S.S.F. Mayor Andrew Rocca Dies; Services Today

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. this afternoon for Andrew Rocca, former South San Francisco mayor and councilman.

Rocca died Sunday at Kaiser Hospital, South San Francisco, after suffering a heart attack.

Services at the Garden Chapel, 885 El Camino Real, will be under the auspices of the Francis Drake Lodge, Number 376, F. & A.M. Interment will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

Rocca, of 550 Poplar Ave., was taken to the hospital at 3

Bank. He also became mayor of Calistoga, a position he held until moving to South San Francisco.

The Calistoga National Bank was sold to the Bank of America in 1937, and Rocca continued as bank manager until 1938, when he moved to South San Francisco to manage that branch.

Beginning in 1955 Rocca worked with L. C. Smith Company as assistant secretary-treasurer.

One of the achievements Rocca was most proud of as a member of the South San Francisco council was his efforts in obtaining state funds as low interest to develop the city's marina.

Rocca also was instrumental in pushing through the state legislation that authorizes councilmen to be paid for their service to the city they represent.

At the time of his retirement from the council, he received plaudits that told of the kind of man he was.

Councilman Frank Mammuni said, "The wealth of knowledge I've gained from you is priceless. It has truly been a privilege to serve on a council with a gentleman of your caliber."

Said Councilman Warren Steinkamp, "I've gained immeasurably from your wisdom."

Then city manager Tom McKenzie said, "On behalf of the staff, I thank you for the privilege of working with you. I admire the manner in which you handle yourself."

Rocca is survived by his wife Virginia, a son Andrew H. Rocca, also of South San Francisco, and a daughter Marian R. Wohlfrom of Pleasant Hills.

Another daughter, Andrea, died earlier this month in a house fire at the home of her father.

Andrew Rocca

p.m. He was pronounced dead at 9:10 p.m.

He was the first chairman of South San Francisco's planning commission and a member of the city council from 1954 to 1970, when he voluntarily retired from public service.

Born at Great Western Quicksilver Mine, Lake County, California, on October 17, 1889, he was one of a family of seven.

Rocca was graduated from the University of California, Berkeley, class of 1914. He later became superintendent of the Helen Quicksilver Mine in Lake County and president and superintendent of Western Mercury Company in Sonoma County.

Rocca in 1924 purchased the principal interest and became president of Calistoga National

Lawsuit Filed

Callan Family Feud Detailed

Details of a falling out between the sons of former county supervisor Thomas J. Callan of Colma are spelled out in a lawsuit filed in Superior Court in Redwood City.

Accusing his younger brother, Thomas J. Callan Jr., of "misconduct," Michael C. Callan asks the court to, among other things, dissolve their partnership, require Thomas to abide by the terms of an agreement between them and make an accounting for assets under his control, enjoin Thomas from selling or encumbering any jointly held property in the meantime, and divide the assets equally between them or award him unspecified damages.

The suit states that, if the present situation is allowed to continue and Michael is deprived of an equal division, he will suffer damages of "not less than $2 million," plus costs, penalties and fees, and lost business opportunities.

Listed as a plaintiff with Michael is his wife, Lorraine, and the younger Callan's wife, Gladys, is named a defendant.

The former supervisor, who built a pig raising business and land speculation into a large fortune and who remains active in the latter field at the age of 81, was for many years the largest individual land owner in the county. In recent years, however, he has deeded much of his property to his two sons and three daughters and to his grandchildren.

The sons are the developers of several major subdivisions, including the Westborough district of South San Francisco, which was originally named Callan Park.

The lawsuit traces the differences between the sons back to 1966 when they orally agreed to terminate their partnership and split the assets equally. Michael prepared two deeds listing all jointly owned properties, one, termed the "short deed," showing undeveloped property and the other, the "long deed," listing developed properties.

In the suit Michael said the deeds were drawn by him in such a way that they showed what he believed to be a disparity of $7,200 in favor of the "short deed." It turned out, however, that the disparity was actually $73,395.

Michael told Thomas, the suit states, that he could select either of the deeds, provided he agreed to meet certain conditions. In February of this year, according to the suit, Thomas had the short deed recorded in his favor although he knew that he was not to do so until an agreement on the conditions had been drawn and signed.

Since then, the suit states, Thomas has sold some of the undeveloped properties "in order to defeat Michael's rights and interests in and to said properties." Michael said he has been required, as a consequence, to sell off certain of the developed properties to sustain himself and pay creditors.

Teacher's Case Will Ride on Board Ruling

A court trial on the dismissal of teacher Clark Natwick by the South San Francisco Unified School District has been cancelled.

Attorneys for both sides agreed that the court case could stand or fall in accordance with a decision by the State Board of Education, scheduled to be made in mid-January, on a recommendation that Natwick's teaching credentials be revoked.

Deputy District Attorney L. M. Summey, counsel for the district, said he believes that the state board will follow a recommendation by a hearing officer that the credentials be lifted. He said district authorities agreed that there would be "minimal risk" in allowing the dismissal to be decided by the state decision. The charges are substantially the same in both cases, Summey said.

Natwick's attorney, Stewart Weinberg, reportedly indicated, however, that he believes that, even if the state board's decision is adverse to his client, the decision could be overturned in court.

The trial was scheduled to start yesterday before Superior Court Judge Frank Piombo in Redwood City but was not held because of a scheduling error in the district attorney's office. A one-day postponement was granted but the agreement to await the state board's ruling was reached in the meantime.

Natwick, 38, of Pacifica, was suspended in October, 1970, from his teaching position at Alta Loma School and charged with emotional instability.

The administration alleged that he loaned a student a copy of "The Inner City Mother Goose" which, officials said, might tend to incite a student to violent or anti-social acts, that he failed to properly prepare lesson plans, that his classroom work was below standard, and that he had had two confrontations with Pacifica police.

Pot in an Open Car Trunk

Daly City police are still trying to piece together the mysterious appearance of some 35 pounds of high grade marijuana found in the open trunk of a rented car.

The "mystery" is: How did the marijuana get in the trunk, who put it there, and why was the trunk open on a public street in plain sight of passers-by?

"There obviously is more to it than meets the eye at this time," one detective said.

Police did arrest Robert Jason, 23, of Los Angeles when he came to a parking lot where the car had been towed on Dec. 15.

It seems Jason, who has been charged with possession of marijuana for sale, first called the rent-a-car office at International Airport to inquire whether the vehicle had been found—and where?

Meanwhile, an unidentified citizen spotted the 2.5 kilo "bricks" inside the car and called police.

The car was towed to the Westlake Garage with its illegal cargo intact in the trunk.

When Jason taxied up to claim the car police were waiting.

The street value of its load is estimated by police at $4,000.

And why anyone would leave that much marijuana in an open trunk "bothers us," the policeman, who asked his name not be used, said.

According to police, Jason flew up from Los Angeles on the same day he arrived to collect the car which had the load of marijuana.

As far as can be ascertained at this time, two other persons—a man and a woman—were seen having an argument near the car, parked on Avalon Drive, the night prior to the discovery of the drug.

The pair has not been found, police said.

S.S.F. Accident

Daly City Woman Killed, 2 Hurt

A young Daly City woman was killed and two others slightly injured in a two-car crash in South San Francisco Thursday.

Dead on arrival at Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City was 24-year-old Georgette Lee Polaez, of 21 Rizal Avenue, Daly City.

According to police, the small foreign compact car driven by Miss Polaez swerved across the center line while northbound on the El Camino Real in South San Francisco about 7:20 p.m., colliding head-on with a sedan driven by Rebecca Lee Smith, 17.

Both Miss Smith and a passenger, Julio Jay Mathew Perez, 16, escaped with only minor injuries. Neither car was speeding, police said.

A Brisbane man was killed on Friday when he was struck by a car on Bayshore Freeway.

The coroner's office reports that Edward Coyle, 54, of 620 Humboldt Street, Brisbane, was hit with such force by a car as he walked along Bayshore a quarter-mile south of the San Francisco County line that both feet were amputated.

Coyle was struck by a south-bound car driven by Kenneth Fuson, 52, of 1639 Virginia Street, Redwood City, about 3 p.m. The driver told Patrolmen Keith Strickland and Kelly Smith that Coyle suddenly appeared in front of his car in the second from outside lane.

There was no indication of why Coyle was on the freeway. The coroner's office said some appointment cards for the Palo Alto Veterans Hospital were in Coyle's pockets. He is survived by a brother, Martin Coyle of Roxbury, N.J.

Pacifica School Aide Burned

Pacifica Oceana High School Vice Principal Frank Terranova is under observation in the intensive care unit of the Kaiser Hospital, Redwood City, today after suffering burns to his arms and face Thursday.

Firemen said they responded to a call at the school to find Terranova and several others around a barbecuing unit. According to firemen, Terranova apparently wasn't having too much luck with barbecue lighter fluid, so he applied duplicating machine fluid to get a flame going.

Gunmen Rob D.C. Driver

A Continental Bakery Company truck driver was robbed of $40 by a pair of gunmen on a Daly City street December 21.

Police said John Peter Travieso, 44, of San Francisco, was parked on an access road to the El Camino Real about 1:30 p.m. when the pair forced him to hand over his cash at gunpoint.

'Operation Santa' Helpers Praised

The Daly City-Colma community has been lauded for its Operation Santa Claus efforts.

Peter Markovich, secretary-manager of the Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce, said the operation's committee "extends its thanks" to the thousands of families giving canned goods and toys to the area's needy families.

Eighteen local civic, fraternal and church-related organizations were represented on the Operation Santa Claus committee, Markovich said.

The collections were handled by some schools, scouts and the Daly City Recreation Department.

The operation provided food and toys for 281 families, with 1012 children, and the Sisters of Charity of Mary's Help Hospital helped an additional 24 families, Markovich said.

Members of the community helped sort and deliver the food-stuffs and toys. On Thursday, 78 men from the various organizations responded with 34 trucks and station wagons, while on Friday 78 men and two young mothers helped deliver grocery baskets, he said.

The Daly City Fire Department rebuilt over 74 bicycles and other wheel toys, in addition to collecting turkeys and sorting canned goods, Markovich said.

Plans OK'd For S.S.F. Landscape

South San Francisco councilmen have approved plans and specifications and authorized a call for bids on two proposed projects.

The first has to do with landscaping at Foxridge School. Cost estimates for development are $17,000 to provide an area "pleasing to the neighborhood" and including such maintenance factors as automatic irrigation, turfed mowable areas and ground cover slope areas.

Councilmen, however, were asked to appropriate only $7,000, while releasing the remaining $10,000, which has been held in trust.

In March of 1969 the city accepted dedication of four lots, along with the $10,000, from the South San Francisco Unified School District, provided the city develop and maintain the lots.

The other plan and specification approval was for a Colma Creek Parkway, proposed landscape improvements on that segment on the north side of Colma Creek adjacent to Mitchell Avenue going east from South Airport Boulevard to the railroad tracks.

Cost estimates for development of the project are $17,881. A cost estimate for maintenance by city forces would be $4,500 a year, the equivalent of one-half man per year.

The city's Beautification Committee has endorsed both proposals.

Guest Pastor At Redemer's Church in SSF

The Rev. Elmer Laursen will be the guest pastor at Our Redeemer's Lutheran Church on Sunday.

The Rev. Laursen is the head chaplain at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco. The worship service will be at 10:30 a.m. Holy Communion will be celebrated using the traditional Lutheran liturgy. Nursery care will be provided.

Our Redeemer's is located at the corner of El Camino Real and Southwood Drive in South San Francisco.

The Rev. Bill G. Wilms announced the new Sunday schedule for 1972.

Worship will be at 10:30 a.m. each Sunday, beginning January 2.

Sunday school will be at 9:15 each Sunday, beginning January 9, 1972.

Bruno Man Found Dead

Eric Shaw, 50, was found dead in his apartment at 867 Huntington Avenue, San Bruno, shortly before 11:30 p.m. Christmas night, an apparent suicide victim, the coroner's office reports.

A note indicating despondency over living alone and pain from cancer for which he was being treated was found in the apartment along with a number of empty pills bottles, it was reported.

Service Station Permit Overruled

In spite of repeated pleas from Gary Caylor, Mobil Oil executive, the San Bruno City Council Monday denied an appeal to revise the use permit for the Mobil Oil Station at 6th and San Bruno to remain open 24 hours a day.

Caylor pointed out that the station is right at the end of the Bayshore Freeway off-ramp, and claimed that 3500 cars pass his station every morning during the six hours the station is closed — 12-6 a.m.

He charged that Council discriminated against Mobil because it recently granted the Shell Oil Station at San Bruno and 3rd Avenue a 24-hour permit and that only one neighbor objected to the permit revision.

Station owner Ray Agis told the council that the demand for longer hours has come from United Airlines employees who want gas when they come off of the night shift, and from his best customer, his close neighbor, the Mail Delivery Service, who operates 24 hours a day. The firm buys $2000 worth of gas a month, Caylor explained, and would buy more if the firm were open when it wants the gas.

Clinton Farr, 825 7th Ave., told the Council that he did not feel that the station remaining open past midnight was conducive to a residential area.

"We only get a chance to sleep between jet planes taking off, anyway," he told the Council. "Now, if we are to have the added noise and light from a station staying open past midnight."

Award Fete Set in S.S.F.

The annual installation dinner and awards for outstanding citizens of the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce will be held January 14.

Six persons are scheduled to be honored as outstanding citizens. They are Marie Brill, Cecilia Bronstein, Asst. Police Chief August Terragno, Basil Cavallieri, S. William Meehan and Fire Chief John Marchi.

The dinner will be held at Brentwood Lodge, 101 Brentwood Dr., South San Francisco. No host cocktails begin at 6:30 p.m. and the dinner at 8 p.m.

Advance reservations are required. Reservations may be made by mailing a check for $16 a couple to the Chamber Office, P.O. Box 469, South San Francisco, 94080.

Reference was made by several councilmen to a memorandum written by Mobil, with copies sent privately to each councilman. It apparently reported an interview of Farr, made by Mobil representatives, in which Farr was described as having a grudge against the city. The memorandum was not made public last night but councilmen later voted to have it entered on the record of the meeting.

A record of the meeting was also being made by Mobil, who had a stenotypist take everything down — a procedure usually used when the appellant is expecting to sue.

The memorandum also apparently noted that Mobil had offered Farr to put awnings on his house or install any other device that would cut down noise or lights — although Mobil alleged that the lights did not shine into his house.

"They never slept in my back bedroom," Farr retorted. As for the offer, "there's enough garbage installed on my house already. If they put any more garbage on, let them put it on their own premises."

Councilman George Corey claimed that the granting of the 24-hour permit to Shell had been a mistake, that may be rectified soon when the next Shell station owner applies for a use permit. The station is closed at present, he said.

Corey moved to deny the appeal from the Planning Commission denial — and the vote was unanimous.

Supply of Blood Low, Donors Sought

Because of the Christmas and New Year holidays, the blood supply at Peninsula Memorial Blood Bank has reached a dangerously low point, it was announced today by Mrs. Harvey Boysen, administrator.

"The blood bank supplies eight major Peninsula hospitals with blood on a 24-hour daily basis and must be prepared for all surgical and emergency situations that arise," Mrs. Boysen said.

The blood bank is located at 1791 El Camino Real, Burlingame, to the right of the entrance to Peninsula Hospital and Medical Center.

Advisory Committee Raps an Appointment

An advisory committee on housing matters has sent a scorching letter to county supervisors taking them to task for rejecting their advice on a recent appointment.

J. Paul Bradley, chairman of the County Committee for Community Development, said in the letter that the appointment of L. F. Colagiovanni, a recently retired Redwood City bank executive, to the governing board of the County Housing Authority was a "particular disappointment" to his group.

The CCCD had urged the appointment of a low-income representative of the Mexican-American community to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Perry Bygones, a Redwood City real estate broker, and had submitted the names of four nominees. Many other individuals and organizations, including the Housing Authority itself, had made the same recommendation.

As the result of agitation by a group headed by Clifford Boxley, director of the PROBE Community Center in the Redwood City poverty area, the supervisors have scheduled a public hearing on the matter for 2 p.m. January 20 and the County Human Relations Commission has promised to schedule a similar hearing.

"One very significant weakness that has been obvious for more than three years," Bradley said, "has been the inability of the Housing Authority to create effective liaison and communication with low-income and minority residents and tenants of Housing Authority programs. Your board has been well aware of this problem."

"Your board has missed a beautiful opportunity to correct this weakness," Bradley told the supervisors. "You have failed to recognize the problem and you have failed to take simple steps to help make the Housing Authority more valuable and effective in solving part of the social ills of the county."

"The only possible way to make a dent in the suffering of low-income persons is to take each separate opportunity as it presents itself, to thoroughly consider the effects any small decision or any single appointment can make, and then have the foresight and fortitude to make small steps in the direction to solving complex and widespread problems."

"This is the very least we expect of our elected representatives."

The letter was on the Board of Supervisors meeting agenda on Tuesday.

San Bruno Debates Committee Task

San Bruno city councilmen managed to patch up a difference of opinion long enough at Monday's meeting to approve a resolution seeking to make the new Airport Land Use committee a "two-way street."

Clashing were Tony Governale, San Bruno's representative on the newly formed committee, and Neil Christal, alleged that the committee was not now what the law creating it had first meant it to be.

Christal claimed that the intent to the law was that the airport should be accountable to its neighbors. As now written, he claimed, the committee would simply be a device for the airport extending its influence over its neighbors.

"It has to be a two-way street," he declared.

Governale explained some of the background of the committee. It includes representatives of each neighboring airport city as well as airport representatives. Its proposed jurisdiction would include all San Mateo County census tracts where complaints of noise have emanated — which includes all land from Belmont to San Francisco.

Any city planning commission in this area reviewing a proposed development may use "the expertise of the Airport Land Use committee" for review, he said.

"They want to avoid what happened in Redwood Shores," he added. "It was built right under the flight pattern of the San Carlos Airport; the salesmen didn't tell the home-buyer, and now the homeowners are complaining of the noise."

Governale claimed that Christal was wrong; it already was a two-way street, since the Land Use Committee was asking San Francisco that all of its plans for the airport be referred to them.

Mayor Maury Hamilton supported Christal, citing the Airport's plans to feed traffic for its future industrial tract into 7th Avenue, without consulting with the city.

"San Francisco has been remiss in communicating with its neighbors," he charged.

Councilmen voted to approve the setup of the Airport Land Use Committee, with the proviso that any new airport development plans be referred to all surrounding cities for the benefit of "their expertise."

The airman is a 1969 graduate of Terra Nova High School.

Bomb Scare At Airport Was Sweet

The sweetest "bomb scare" on record occurred Thursday morning at San Francisco International Airport when a suspected "bomb" turned out to be a box of candy.

The package was discovered in a telephone booth near the Bank of America counter in the airport's South Terminal.

A note said:

"Beware, the end is near."

Airport security officers cordoned off the area, and sent for the San Mateo County Sheriff's Office Bomb Squad.

When opened, the package contained a box of chocolates produced by a well-known South San Francisco firm.

Bagan Named Airport Aide

M. F. Mike Bagan of Piedmont, an investment banker and former head of the San Francisco-Oakland Helicopter Airlines, has been named assistant deputy director of San Francisco International Airport, at $35,000 a year.

Bagan, a graduate of Notre Dame, is 51.

He will work directly under James K. Carr, director of airports, and will be responsible for overseeing day-to-day operations of the big airport, as well as being in charge of its maintenance.

Bagan will assume command of the airport duties which have been filled by Roy Samuels since the retirement of former airport manager George Hansen.

Samuels will revert to his previous post, that of assistant airport director in charge of operations and maintenance.

$16,000 Paid by SSF To Noise Consultant

By BOB PETERSON

South San Francisco officials, hearing a year-end progress report from airport noise consultant Maurice Garbell last week were told the city has paid him to date more than $16,000 for his services.

This piece of information appeared to come as a surprise to some on the council. Garbell was first hired November 4, 1970, and to date has been paid $16,732.30.

It prompted Councilman Frank Bertucelli to move that Garbell in the future submit his proposals in writing to the city manager and city attorney.

"I'm not saying we should delete your services," said Bertucelli. "I know you've been doing a good job. I just want to know whether we have a blank check here."

Garbell, who has prepared several resolutions and other pertinent information concerning jet noise and air travel as it affects South San Francisco, was recently retained to represent the city at all noise abatement meetings.

Garbell has been charging a basic rate of $50 an hour. He also submits other expenses such as mileage, fees for parking and other out-of-pocket expenses.

Responding to Bertucelli's motion, Garbell said he has always asked for an item-by-item authorization, and that he had also submitted an interim budget to the city manager on December 6.

Councilman Warren Steinkamp defended Garbell's retention, saying, "We should have representation at every meeting."

Garbell said that in addition to the city, he also is retained by Utah International, Inc., associated with Utah Construction and Mining Company, as a consultant.

He told the council that the city ought to take up discussions

County's Year Enlivened by Day's Suggestion

By VIRGIL WILSON

Any accounting of county government highlights for 1971 should include the bombshell planted by Supervisor Gerald F. Day in the basement of the Hall of Justice in Redwood City last July, although it proved to be pretty much of a dud.

It was during a tax forum, in which many familiar things were being said, that Day made what he called a "provocative" proposal: that the county legalize prostitution and gambling in order to collect license fees and taxes from them.

The proposal was startling enough but had no lasting effect. It did not get nearly the amount of reaction that Day wanted or expected and has been quite forgotten by this time.

As ineffectual as the suggestion may have been, however, it pointed out the concern that county officials have shown about the escalating demand on the property tax and the need to develop new sources of revenue. Higher county taxes have many undesirable results, among them being a tendency on the part of the citizenry to blame the supervisors.

When he took over in January as chairman of the board for 1971, Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald called upon county government workers to cut down on costs through increased productivity. Later on he pledged that the county tax rate would be reduced.

Whether the goal of increased productivity was achieved is conjectural. The county budget went up from $116.4 million to $123.8 million and the amount of county-wide property taxes needed to balance the budget increased from $36.5 million to $39 million.

Fitzgerald made good on his second pledge, however. Despite the increase in the spending program and the consequent need for more tax money, the board was able to reduce the basic tax rate by about six cents, thanks to a higher than normal increase in the assessment roll and some tight figuring by County Manager M. D.

Tarshes and Controller Edward J. McGuire and their staffs.

County departments started moving into the new tower addition of the Hall of Justice in 1971 and by year's end at least portions of all eight floors, plus the basement, were in use.

Almost all of two floors are being used by the Superior Court, which saw several personnel changes during the year. Sworn in as Superior Court judges at the start of the year were Robert E. Carey, a Municipal Court judge who was elected in 1970 to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Edmund Scott, who has since died, and Robert D. Miller, another Municipal Court judge who was appointed by Governor Reagan to fill a new court position — the 14th for San Mateo County.

Later, Gerald E. Ragan was appointed to replace Robert F. Kane, who was named to the District Court of Appeal, and Municipal Court Judge Frank Piombo was chosen by Governor Reagan to take the place of Allison M. Rouse, another appointee to the appellate court.

Two veteran county department heads retired during the year, Ralph H. Shaw, superintendent of parks and recreation for 26 years, left and was replaced by his assistant, John T. Brook. Brook was in office for less than two months when he suffered a heart attack but returned to the job on a part-time basis this month.

The other retiree was Victor Canavese, county agricultural commissioner for 11 years. His assistant, Claude Bridges, is serving as acting commissioner until a permanent appointment is made by the supervisors.

Another new department head was S. H. Cantwell, who was elected in 1970 to succeed Don S. Wilson as county engineer. Cantwell took over at the first of the year following Wilson's retirement.

The county won a landmark victory when the District Court of Appeal invalidated state rules and regulations on logging because the loggers themselves were allowed to veto any proposals that did not serve their purposes.

The ruling meant that San Mateo County has the right, which it had assumed, to control logging to protect against environmental damage. A logging ordinance said to be the strictest in the United States was enacted by the Board of Supervisors in 1971.

The board displeased environmentalists, however, in voting to take San Mateo County out of the proposed Mid-Peninsula Regional Park District, which was to have been a joint undertaking with Santa Clara County. Proponents, who want the district to buy up foothill land in southern San Mateo County and northern San Clara County to save it from subdivision development, proceeded with the project, however, and indicated that once the district is formed they will try to annex the vital San Mateo County territory.

The county continued through the year to buy up groves of redwoods in Pescadero Creek Park to save them from the logger's chainsaw. All hopes for a huge man-made lake in the heart of the park were abandoned in 1971 and the county scrambled to buy up the trees that were to have been cut by the former owner from the portion that was to have formed the bottom of the lake.

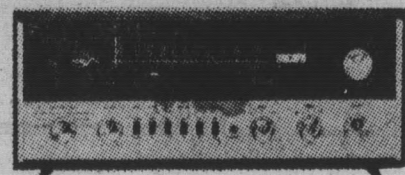

New agencies were established during the year to deal with such pressing problems as narcotics, airports, criminal justice, rapid transit and tourism.

One of the year's highlights was the adoption of an affirmative action program under which county government not only agrees that there will be no discrimination in hiring but that positive steps will be taken to recruit and train persons who are disadvantaged because of race or other reason.

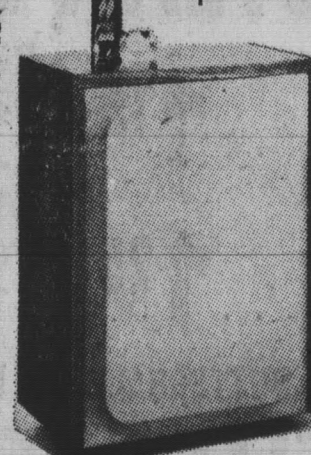

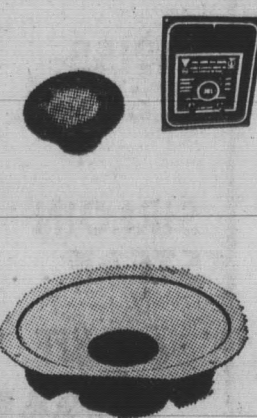

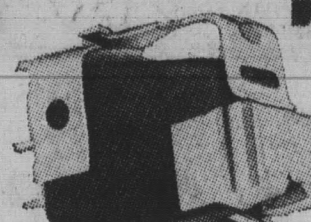

County officials continued to push for tighter security provisions at the San Francisco owned jail near San Bruno and were somewhat embarrassed in August when seven prisoners broke out of the San Mateo County jail in Redwood City. The incident was blamed on the construction of the new Hall of Justice addition, however, and officials said it wouldn't happen again. The jail, incidentally, expanded into the space provided by the construction, making it possible to close down the much-criticized medium security jail near La Honda.

Airport Traffic Jammed

True to expectations, San Francisco International Airport was jammed with people and cars over the Christmas holidays, but mostly with cars.

The vagrant vehicles began filling parking lots Thursday as many people began the big get-away and continued to flow in through Friday night until there was not a parking space to be had.

Motorists circled the terminal areas, slower and slower, and began ignoring the "No Parking" signs to leave their cars along the roadways and dash for planes.

Airport garage managers reported the five-story concrete layer-cake was jam-packed with cars through the weekend, and customers were being turned away.

Officials said they were trying to be tolerant, because of the Christmas season, but were annoyed at cars left helter-skelter in driveways and other areas.

By mid-afternoon Sunday, the peak of the rush began to wear away as travelers returned from Christmas visits and retrieved their autos from the metallic maze.

On Monday, however, airport officials said, the crush was returning as business travelers began arriving at the airfield to find that cars left behind by long-term visitors were still using up most of the parking spaces.

Admitting that they make more money from cars than from airplanes, airport officers pleaded with travelers to use buses, taxis, or get other people to deliver them to the airfield, rather than use their own cars and expect to find easy parking.

Not only will parking remain critical through this week, it is expected to hit a new peak next weekend, as people go out of town, for New Year's Day.

Skyline Sets Registration

Skyline College at San Bruno is now accepting applications for admission, and is introducing "register by mail" for evening students.

Dean of Students James C. Wyatt said applications for admission to daytime classes must be submitted to Rex Butler, dean of admissions, by January 7. An additional week is allowed for providing transcripts of high school or previous college attendance.

Students must take placement tests prior to admission, Wyatt said. Tests will be given at the college administration building January 18 and January 25, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Registration by mail for evening college, directed by Associate Dean of Instruction David P. Marin, ends January 21.

Yuletide Sparks Troth Announcements

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mammini of South San Francisco announce the engagement of their daughter, Valerie Ann, to David Allan Haskin. The couple is planning to be married on April 15 at 2 p.m. at Notre Dame Des Victoires Church in San Francisco.

The future bride is the sister of Mark and Barry Mammini and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guido Mammini. She attended South San Francisco High School and the University of California at Berkeley.

David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Haskin of South San Francisco and the brother of Dale and Carol Haskin. He is the grandson of Mrs. S. W. Tooby.

David also studied at South City High and went on to the College of San Mateo. He is a veteran of Army duty.

Figone-Sciandri

Susan Figone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Figone of San Bruno, will be married at a date still to be set to Carl Sciandri, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Sciandri of Colma.

Susan is the sister of Frank, Nancy, and Donna Figone and the granddaughter of Mrs. Rose Love and Victor Figone. She attended Crestmoor High School.

Carl studied at Jefferson High School.

Baiocchi-Parodi

A recent dinner party at the Daly City home of Mrs. Arthur Dolloso was the occasion for her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor John Baiocchi of San Francisco, to announce the engagement of another daughter, Elizabeth Ann, and Michael Edward Parodi. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Parodi of Daly City.

The prospective bride was graduated from Immaculate Conception Academy and is now employed as a legal secretary. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Voss and Guido Baiocchi.

Michael is the football and soccer coach at Riordan High School, his alma mater. He also was graduated from San Francisco State. Denise and Ben Parodi are his brother and sister.

Vows Exchanged

South San Francisco is the first address for Ronald P. Brown and his bride, the former Evelyn R. Spinelli.

The couple was married at St. Veronica's Church and received felicitations at the Italian-American Social Club.

Evelyn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Spinelli of South City and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Maxine Brown of Tacoma, Wash.

A formal white gown was worn by the bride when she said her vows. Her attendants were similarly dressed in emerald green velvet costumes. Elin Lupo of South City served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Nancy Spinelli of San Bruno, the bride's sister-in-law, and Sheryl Kahner of Pacifica, her niece. Debra Turner of South City served as flower girl and Matthew Grafigna carried the rings.

Best man duties were performed by Herb Derungs of Brisbane and Gene Spinelli. Evelyn's brother, and John Pamela of South City seated guests.

Jefferson High School and South San Francisco High School are the bride and ben-

Happy New Year, one and all. May 1972 be one unsurpassed for health happiness and prosperity for each of you.

The holiday season is, above all, a season for get togethers and renewing of old ties and establishing of new friendships. For the members of the Pacifica Fifty-Plus Club it will be a time of decision making for there will be not one, but two, New Year's Eve parties. Deciding which to attend will be difficult.

Friday morning, bright and early, a chartered bus will be picking up any of the members who feel inclined to travel to snowy climes, for the jaunt to Yosemite and a lively week-end of parties and exciting scenery.

Those going to Yosemite will enjoy fine rooms in the lodge as well as a New Year's Eve party to be followed by a ride up to Badger Pass on New Year's Day.

For those who prefer to stay in our more temperate region, Mrs. Violet Desmond is planning a party which will be held at the Forest Lodge in San Francisco.

Mrs. Desmond has arranged for a live orchestra, entertainment and buffet, all for a very moderate fee. Interested members should call her, immediately, for reservations or more information.

THE PERFORMANCE of Hansel and Gretel at Riordan High School was warmly received and anyone looking for some holiday entertainment for the younger set should consider catching one of the last two performances of the Oakland Ballet's traditional Christmas production.

The company will perform the ballet tonight at 8 p.m. in the Kaiser Center Auditorium in Oakland and again tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. in the same locale.

THE EXHIBIT of minitures by localite Mrs. R. L. Abiani will continue through the holiday in the Peninsula Hospital's gift shop.

The show is a tribute to the skill of Mrs. Ariani who has the distinction of being the only painter of minitures who has been given a show in the hospital.

Mrs. Ariani, a member of the Burlingame Art Society, has studied at the San Francisco Art Institute and with Edna Van Koughnet. Previously her work has been exhibited at the Fayette Gallery in Burlingame and at the First National Bank in Daly City.

"SEA, 72 in the Trevira Era." was the title selected for the huge reception and Fashion extravaganza held aboard the T.S.S. Fairsea during that ship's recent visit to San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. John Wahl, Mr. and Mrs. George McConnell and Mr. and Mrs. Murray Freedman were among the north Peninsula people on hand to hear Mrs. Hugh Scott Baillie's commentary on fashions suitable for life aboard a cruise vessel. The apparel, all of Trevira, was designed by Bay Area designers Roi Ford, Wanda Belli, Helgo Howie, Count Leonardo, Rhoda Kakar, Calvin and G. G. Pinley.

MR. AND MRS. Robert McGuire and daughter Kalley, Mrs. Richard Hanlon and children John and Jill, Mrs. Murray Freedman and son Rick, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Macheroni and children Robert, Andy, Tim and Joanne, and Mrs. Jack Cooper and children Lisa and Tracy were in attendance when the San Francisco Park and Recreation Department named the Sava Swim Club the first place winner in the department's aquatic program for the eleventh consecutive year.

The Daly City persons connected with the Sava Swim Club, were on hand the next night its annual Christmas party and made some individual awards, as well.

The entire Freedman family was on hand the second night to see Rick receive an award for the mile swim on Russian River as well as a third place ribbon for swimming. Bringing another award to the Peninsula was JoAnne Macheroni who was cited for being the team's most improved swimmer.

The Sava team is coached by Charlie Sava and David Lloyd.

RECOVERING at home following her release from Mary's Help Hospital is Mrs. Robert L. Morford, co-owner of Serramonte Music Center.

Mrs. Morford fell on December 20 and fractured her hip.

AS WE PREPARE to welcome a new year Mrs. Thomas Baldwin of Court St. Mary N. 1155, Catholic Daughters of America, requests that all readers consider the message in any "Open Letter to Man."

The letter was written in 1962 and since 1968 Father Francis Caffrey, of the Maryknoll Fathers, has been working to distribute it as widely as possible. Originally the letter was written by song writer Sy Miller and it now assumes the aspects of a poem of supplication by women who no longer feel comfortable with the image of themselves they see presented by much of the media. Read it, then pass it on to someone you love. Whether you agree or disagree its good food for thought.

"I am a Woman.

"I am your wife, your sweetheart, your mother, your daughter, your sister . . . your friend. I need your help.

"I was created to give to the world gentleness, understanding, serenity, beauty and love. I am finding it increasingly difficult to fulfill my purpose.

"Many people in advertizing, motion pictures, television and radio have ignored my inner qualities and have repeatedly used me only as a symbol of sex.

"This humiliates me; it destroys my dignity; it prevents me from being what you want me to be . . . an example of — "Beauty, inspiration and love.

"Love for my children, love for my husband, love of my God and my country.

"I need your help to restore me to my true position . . . to allow me to fulfill the purpose for which I was created.

"I know you will find a way."

Nell Norton

Good morning, good cooks.
Tis the week after Christmas and isn't it wonderful to relax and enjoy the no rush, no hurry feeling? Let's have a cup of coffee and talk about a recipe I tested recently that might be just right for your dinner tonight.

A casserole with meat and vegetables in a thick cream sauce topped with a rich crust.

DINNER EN CASSEROLE

- 3 Tablespoons fat (either bacon grease, margarine or butter)
- 4 Tablespoons flour
- 1 Teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- Dash of cloves
- 1 cup meat stock or beef bouillon
- 1/2 cup vegetable liquid
- 1 cup cooked, diced meat
- 1/2 cup cooked, diced carrots
- 1/4 cup cooked, diced celery
- 1 cup cooked, diced potatoes

Melt the three tablespoons fat in skillet, add the fourth cup chopped onion and fry until tender and golden. Stir in the four tablespoons flour, one teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper; mix well. Add the one cup meat stock and half cup vegetable liquid gradually, stirring constantly. Cook until thick and smooth. (This is very thick.) Add the combined one cup cooked meat, half cup carrots, three fourths cup cooked celery and one cup cooked potatoes. Turn into a 9-inch pie plate. Cover with the following crust.

CELERY SEED CRUST

- 1 1/2 cups flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon celery seed
- 4 Tablespoons shortening
- 1/2 cup milk

Sift the one and one half cups flour with the two teaspoons baking powder and one-half teaspoon salt. Add the half teaspoon celery seed and mix well. Cut in the four tablespoons shortening until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add the half cup milk, mixing only until all flour is dampened. Turn on lightly-floured board; knead slightly to smooth surface. Roll dough to fit top of pie plate. Place over filling. Trim and flute edge, with sharp knife cut openings to allow steam to escape. Bake in 425-degree oven for 20 minutes. Serves 6.

With this casserole you could serve a lettuce and tomato salad. Or if you and your family enjoy molded salads, this fruit salad is attractive and delicious.

LIME-FRUIT MOLD

- 1 pkg. lime gelatin, small
- 1 cup hot water
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 2 Tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/4 teaspoon salt 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup red grapes, seeded and cut
- 1 cup peeled, diced apples
- 1/4 cup chopped walnuts

Dissolve the one package gelatin in the one cup hot water. Add the half cup cold water, half cup mayonnaise, two tablespoons lemon juice and fourth teaspoon salt. Blend with rotary beater. Pour into freezer tray and freeze about 20 minutes or until hard about one-inch around edge and soft in center. Pour into bowl and beat with rotary beater until light and fluffy.

Add the three-fourths cup red grapes, one cup diced apples and fourth cup chopped walnuts. Pour into mold. Refrigerate 2 or more hours. Unmold and serve.

DRAT DEPARTMENT: The Scripture cake had an error when it appeared in the paper. The 3 Tablespoons of honey was repeated. After the New Year, we'll reprint the whole recipe.

Drawing and Oil Painting Classes Will Start Soon

Miss Susan Brennen will instruct a beginning and intermediate drawing and oil painting class under the sponsorship of the Daly City Recreation Department.

The class will continue for a 10-week period on Thursdays—January 13 through March 16 from 12:30 p.m.-3:30 p.m. at the Arts and Crafts Center, 101 Peoria.

Ceramics and Guitar Lessons

A ceramics workshop will be offered by the Daly City Recreation Department on Thursdays, starting January 27.

Recreation department also announced its spring guitar program for children and adults, in the War Memorial Community Center's upstairs Room.

Boy Scouts Win Awards

Boy Scout troop 343 recently held their fifth annual pot luck supper at Daniel Webster School.

The troop members and their families were invited. 125 people attended the holiday event.

After the dinner, troop leader William Zarubin gave awards. Craig Bloom was awarded the Star, and also received his citizenship of the nation and music merit badges. Mark Schlesinger was awarded first class. Rick Vieira was given Indian lore and stamp collecting. John Runnels, explorer scout, received his physical fitness and conservation of natural resources.

Highlight of the evening was a program presented by the explorer scouts. Matt Mathews told of the many activities of the explorer post. These scouts do volunteer work for Steinhart aquarium, Marineworld and Fleishacker Zoo. Matt showed slides of the Fleishacker Zoo, and explained their new program to teach birds of prey to live free of cages.

South City Church Rites

St. Veronica's Catholic Church in South San Francisco will be the setting January 8 for the wedding of Christine R. Harr and Dennis Lee Smazenko. A reception will follow at Brentwood Lodge.

The prospective bride is a resident of Burlingame. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Harr of Honolulu and the sister of Margaret Bladet of Lodi, and Shawn Harr.

Christine was graduated from Mills High School and the College of San Mateo. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Florence Crowell of Grass Valley and the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Clifford of San Francisco.

Dennis is presently serving with the U.S. Navy in San Diego. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Egge Smazenko of Paulding, Ohio. Allen, Gary and Andrew Smazenko are his brothers and his grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Forest Camp of Hamilton, Ind.

Mrs. Bladet will be her sister's matron of honor and bridesmaids will be Judy Nuri-sio of Burlingame and Linda Hallett of Millbrae.

Charles Prochaska of San Diego will serve as best man and ushers will be Ezio Nuri-sio of Burlingame and Richard Friday of San Diego.

Active Holiday for Rockhounds in DC

The Daly City Rockhounds held their Annual Christmas Pot-Luck Dinner at the War Memorial Community Center and were entertained by the "Baptist Church Choral Singers."

Members and guests exchanged gifts pertaining to the hobby of a rockhound and all brought gifts for the local needy.

The rockhounds climaxed their 10th year participating in the Daly City Recreation Department's Operation Santa Claus, donating canned goods for the needy in Daly City.

The rockhounds also provided gifts, fruit and Christmas decoration for the patients at three local Convalescent Homes, Cerro Gardens, Skyline and St. Francis.

The "Santa Elena Choir" children of Daly City Rockhounds and their friends sang Christmas carols and helped deliver gifts to the patients.

How-To-Do-It Stories Given

From the what's new department comes a recipe for French bread — the bread which caused a world traveler to say, "Ah, here is a food to strengthen a man's heart," and another to call it "a San Francisco passion."

The recipe on page 61 of the January, 1972, issue of the "American Home, California edition," says that it is the steam giving the bread its character. It also says that the ingredients the French Boulanger puts into his bread are prescribed by law.

Complete with pictures and instructions, the recipe is "Cooking Lesson Number 41" of American Home's current series. Others in the series give step by step instructions for preparing for home consumption such delightful foods as steak au poivre, with a pleasing, mellow taste and a piquant flavor (April 1971, page 111); or pommes soufflées wherein slices of potato balloon into crisp golden puffs.

THE RECIPES are published as part of a constant search by the editors for stories that will lead readers to a "better life." The stories for the most part are how-to-do-it articles ranging from organizing for pollution-free living, to instructions on how to decorate an odd-shaped living room. Truly American Home is as it has been called a how-to-do-it book for housewives.

Another how-to-do-it article that is new deals with making buckskin in the manner of the Southeast Indians.

It was published in the June 1971 issue of "American Indian Crafts and Culture" to fill a need caused by an increasing interest in buckskin for moccasins, leggings and many other leather products.

The June issue of "American Indian Crafts and Culture" contains several other articles of Indian culture that should be of interest to people who are trying to understand the American Indian and to people who are looking for a hobby to fill their leisure time. One of the articles tells how and why the Blackfeet Indians made beaded shirts. Another tells about the feather shields that the Indians of the great plains used in their war dances.

IT IS INTERESTING to note how many other periodicals carry articles geared to hobbists. Indeed 1971 may go down in history as the year of the rebirth of the crafts.

In the words of an old song: "Everybody's doin' it. Doing it, doing it. Everybody's doin' it. Doing it now." Why not join them as Harriet Van Horne has written, a hobby helps one develop his 90 per cent unused potential.

It helps him compose his life, Miss Van Horne observes, and speaking of composing, she quotes Montaigne: "If you have known how to compose your life, you have accomplished a great deal more than the man who knows how to compose a book."

Honeymoon in S.F. Alone

Dorothy Loudon is celebrating her honeymoon in San Francisco alone. Married on December 18 to composer-conductor Norman Paris, she was already committed to open on December 27 at the Marines' Memorial Theater with the Pulitzer Prize drama "The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-The-Moon Marigolds."

"It's O.K., he's coming out to be with me next week. And besides, we went together for 17 years before we got married," the actress confided over a Basque omelet.

Miss Loudon plays Beatrice, an embittered divorcee whose twisted love for her two teenaged daughters threatens to destroy them. She is a member of an elite club of actresses who have played the role including Sada Thompson who originated the role Off-Broadway, Joan Blondell who is still playing it in New York, Eileen Heckert, and Betty Field who did it in Boston, Rachel Roberts in Los Angeles, Jo Van Fleet and Irene Dailey.

Paul Newman has bought the film rights and it's possible that his wife, Joanne Woodward will do it.

This is playwright Paul Zindel's second play. It won numerous awards and has the distinction of being only the second show to have originated Off-Broadway to win the coveted Pulitzer Prize. The first was "No Place to Be Somebody."

His first play was "Miss Reardon Drinks A Little" which is still running in New York with Estelle Parsons in the lead role.

Martin Bernhardt, who directed both plays, explained why "Marigolds" needs special handling. It needs the intimacy of a small theater (hence the Marines' under the auspices of American Conservatory Theatre); will have no national touring company because every new production must be completely recast around the role of Beatrice.

"I don't think there has ever been such a powerful part ever written for a woman. Tennessee Williams' characters come closest to Paul's," Miss Loudon offered.

"Beatrice is an absolute prism. You have to reach down inside and come up with things that are frightening to yourself. I've never played such a horror. She's madly tough and can do terrible things because life has marred her. And yet she's full of life, full of fun."

Bernhardt had originally wanted Miss Loudon to play "Miss Reardon" but she was committed already to do the Paramus, New Jersey tryout of "The Ashes of Mrs. Reardon." It unfortunately never got to New York and she had to forfeit the successful Zindel play.

The director will begin work soon on "Other Voice, Other Rooms," based on the Truman Capote book with a stage adaptation by Anna Marie Barlow whose "Glorious Hallelujah" was done two years ago here by A.C.T.

Zindel gave up teaching high school science on Staten Island several years ago to become a playwright. At age 34, he has also completed four teenaged novels, two of which have been sold for films is writing a movie for Barbra Streisand and adapting "Mame" for Lucille Ball.

"Marigolds" has an all female cast and a live male rabbit. On matinees, his female stand-in plays the role.

Myth About Airport Taxes

Plans to beef up the security force at the San Francisco International Airport, strictly a measure proposed by the airport's own management under some pressure from the Federal Aviation Administration, have been seized upon by a San Francisco newspaper to once more drag out the hoary old myth that San Mateo County does not pay a fair share of the airport costs.

Plaintively, it editorially recounts the old, weasel-worded claim that the airport pays a horrendous tax to San Mateo County and the cities that have boundaries inside the airport, and suggests that a cash contribution from this county would be "highly appropriate" to help pay the costs of the augmented security force. "Airport facilities," it says, "public and private, pay $11,000,000 a year in San Mateo County taxes."

The truth is that the total tax for 1971-72 to be paid by the City and County of San Francisco for the airport is exactly $438,998. The balance of the $11,000,000 million taxes are private and the airport does not pay one cent of them.

The small amount that it does pay covers the use of 2,100 acres of the most valuable land in San Mateo County and produces revenues of over ten millions a year for an airport that has been self-supporting for 15 years.

It is undeniable that the airport does generate many tax and payroll benefits. But, equally, San Mateo County generates a very large part of the business revenue at the airport in both passenger and freight categories, and since the airport is wholly owned by San Francisco, San Mateo County does not share in these revenues. But it does get a lion's share of the airport's traffic and jet noise.

With respect to the need to increase airport security it should be noted that it was San Francisco's own decision, made many years ago, that it would provide its own security force. In this very year of 1971, it rejected consultations with San Mateo County and engineered a bill through the legislature to gain half the money from parking violations at the airport despite the fact it is in the jurisdiction of San Mateo County which maintains 24-hour Sheriff's patrols at the airport.

While studies of the State Division of Highways, also this year, show that half of the traffic at the airport originates from San Mateo County and points south, the airport has consistently evaded the necessity to give local passengers taxi service equal to that given its San Francisco patrons. Passengers from San Mateo County are lucky if they can get a taxi when deplaning, and are often subjected to rough rides and surly drivers if they do.

Undoubtedly, the airport security does need improvement, but this is in no way the fault of San Mateo County and it is both naive and untruthful to suggest that this county is in any way responsible or should pay for the improvement.

Regional Government Measure

A thoughtful letter from Mrs. Donald Stone, president of the League of Women Voters of Central San Mateo County, expresses a "different point of view" with respect to a recent local editorial. The editorial was a comment upon the curious aspects of a now defunct piece of legislation, AB 1057, an act creating what was termed a Conservation and Development Agency of the Bay Area.

The subject is now, at least temporarily, moot. The bill was withdrawn shortly before the legislature adjourned because its author did not want to risk a plebiscite on which the Senate had insisted. That it will reappear in the next regular session can be considered virtually certain.

While the agency it proposed to create was purportedly for the purpose of planning, the authority conferred for this purpose was both broad and sweeping in effect for the agency was charged with preparing a master plan for open space, regional parks, transportation and environmental quality.

Beginning to function in 1973, the agency would have had three years of veto power over present regional agencies dealing with such matters as transportation and rapid transit, air pollution, parks and open space. The veto power also extended to the actions of local planning and developmental agencies including the ordinances of city and county governments in eight bay counties.

In short, it was a back-door approach to establishing a regional super-government by legislative fiat.

The editorial was in line with our long-standing policy toward regional government, as expressed in the past, that the establishment of a Bay Area regional government is premature and that concept of regional government should be withheld from application here until there is more experience with those regional agencies that Mrs. Stone points out are already in existence — that we should learn to walk before we run into a new level of 'metro government.'

The Post shares with the Women Voters the belief that local voters should not be disenfranchised by the operation of regional government and, most particularly, that such a disenfranchisement should not come about by legislative fiat imposing the will of a regional super-government upon local government and varying local interests without the consent of the people.

There is no evidence, in matters of limited local concern, that "big government" is better per se than smaller governments that must be directly responsive to local voters. Indeed, many citizens have expressed anxiety over the feeling that they already have "too much government."

That regional problems exist is undeniable but, thus far, the existing regional agencies on an operative basis have been able to cope with these problems. If and when it becomes desirable to unify these agencies it would appear to be more fitting that the initiative for this should arise from the people rather than be politically inspired.

Insofar as AB 1057 was concerned we considered it to be a defective instrument in a number of respects which we had previously outlined. It was a patchwork of amendments and compromises and its final fate, when its sponsors declined to submit it to a plebiscite — to a vote by the people of the region — is a measure of what it might have been.

The concern of the Women Voters' organization with regional government problems is both sincere and helpful. We suggest to them that, as members of the voting public, that they take an active part in developing future legislation on the subject at its inception.

Plea Bargaining Daily Practice

NO MAN, except in fiction, has successfully sold his soul to the devil, even though some have tried. But bargains of similar import are made daily in the courts of our land.

We call the practice plea bargaining. It has gone on for a long time, but only recently has the public become fully aware of its prevalence, and has it taken form as a somewhat regulated institution.

To understand the practical necessity of plea bargaining, consider the following statistics. In California in 1968, 59.5 per cent of all felony defendants before the Superior Court pled guilty. 17.6 per cent waived trial and submitted cases on the basis of lower court or grand jury transcripts. Only 8.5 per cent were convicted by jury or by court trial and 14.4 per cent were dismissed or acquitted.

Ninety per cent of all felony convictions were obtained without trial. Why?

In deciding a case handed down last week, Chief Justice Warren Burger condoned the plea bargaining process. He said it "is an essential element of the administration of justice." He also stated "If every criminal charge were subjected to full scale trial, the states and the federal government would need to multiply by many times the number of judges and court facilities."

In the hands of an enlightened judiciary, plea bargaining is workable. But there are serious and worrisome dangers.

The consideration offered by the defendant is staggering. In essence, he agrees to go to jail or prison to avoid the risk of going for a longer term. He foregoes life, liberty and happiness in fear of greater punishment. Such bargains must not be treated lightly.

There will always be the danger that the defendant does not fully understand his rights. A growing body of case law requires a record that discloses understanding of the bargain made and knowing waiver of rights of confrontation and jury trial and against self incrimination.

EVERY MAN is entitled to counsel. But for one reason or another, counsel are not equally proficient. An inadequate bargaining agent is likely to produce an inadequate and unfair result.

There is always the danger that the courts and prosecutors will not keep the bargain once made. Happily, recent decisions of the United States Supreme Court and of the Supreme Court of the State of California evidence judicial determination that bargains will be kept.

The role of the public prosecutor in conducting bargaining has not been fully developed. What if a district attorney frivolously and capriciously refuses to bargain with one defendant but will with another?

The entire process admits of the possibility of corruption. When does plea bargaining become fixing?

Chief's Corner

By RUSSELL CUNNINGHAM
Chief, San Bruno PD

THE SAN BRUNO DEPARTMENT began a 10-hour day, four-day work week for patrol division personnel last August 22.

Our major objective in converting was to put more officers on the street at times of high need and reduce the number of officers when the need is less.

Other objectives dealt with increased efficiency and effectiveness, as well as a means to reduce the amount of overtime paid and days off because of illness.

A major factor concerning all of our objectives dealt with morale of the officers. One of the major hurdles officers normally deal with is that they never have weekend days off until they have a great deal of seniority.

THROUGH A SYSTEM of distribution and operating in what we call teams we are not able to provide every man in the patrol division 3 consecutive days off with one of the days being either a Saturday or Sunday.

Realizing that the initial period could be considered a "honeymoon," the time and figures determined during this period are not total indicators. Our plans are to evaluate the system quarterly throughout the next year. Our first quarter evaluation has revealed:

1—Overtime has been reduced by approximately 50 per cent as compared to 1969 and 1970.

2—Normal illness time off has been reduced by 50 per cent as compared to 1969 and 1970.

3—Major crime reported has experienced approximately a 14 per cent decrease in 1971 over 1970.

4—Other measurements of improvement.

MIXED VOCATIONS: The man who replaced Pope Paul VI as archbishop of Milan says Roman Catholics should tell priests about their traffic offenses when they go into the confession box.

Cardinal Giovanni Colombo also tells priests to question Catholics about their driving habits and suggests the highway laws should be taught in seminars so that confessors will know the kind of question to ask.

Colombo's observations were published in O'Osservatore Romano, the Vatican newspaper.

Better Business

By LORENE BEASLEY
Better Business Bureau

The Christmas Season with its mad shopping, excitement, and crowds is over. And now, the complaints are being received by the Better Business Bureau office with fierce regularity.

The reliable stores throughout the country were stocked with attractive merchandise, well advertised and honestly sold. However, in spite of the many warnings from the BBB, we find that the season's cheer has been ruined for the many who bought from those businesses open only during the Christmas selling season.

Shoppers have found that their complaints concerning the bargains in watches, jewelry, radios and other small appliances which they purchased from these transient firms have fallen upon empty stores.

Many bargain-minded customers ordered from unknown mail-houses. They bought distress liquidation-type merchandise from promoters without first determining the firm's reliability.

MANY OF THESE did not receive their ordered merchandise in time for Christmas giving. Some of this will eventually be delivered and a certain percentage will never be received. There is little likelihood of redress for such mail orders.

Children were the principal victims of the money price tag racket. Shopping with a limited budget, they were dazzled by the gifts they could buy "wholesale" according to the wording and prices printed on cartons containing such items of cheap quality as cuff links, billfolds and jewelry.

The cruelest operators were those firms that welcomed "bad credit accounts." The customer who got into arrears with such merchants found themselves in danger of having their salaries garnished and in several cases even the possibility of losing their jobs.

Motored to Snow Country

HAD A GREAT CHRISTMAS. Motored up to the snow country with the Missus and watched the folks gathered around the tables at John Ascuaga's Nugget hoping for that Little Something to put under the tree.

Never did see anyone overjoyed with their winnings, except for a few LOLs who hit the $2.50 jackpots on the slots.

Up on the wall behind the Keno caller most casinos plaster tickets denoting what the winnings were — always in the thousands of dollars. But in my whole life I only know of one Daly City woman who hit $12,500 playing "clean-oh." She deserved it too. Since then she has "re-invested" in Nevada casino stock upwards of $14,000.

BUT THE SNOW COUNTRY is nice. Reminds me of home, and long years ago when I was young. Back when God and Country were meaningful to folks, and Christ was always a part of Christmas.

Funny thing about those never-to-be-again days was the fact I truly can't remember (probably because of my absent-mindedness) who was Polish, Italian, French, black, yellow, red or white. They were just "other kids."

I fought a lot because I was small and was apparently trying to prove something. While the bigger kid was having a banquet I was getting a sandwich. Translated that means he was beating the living bedevil out of me and I was only slapping him on the wrist.

MAYBE THERE'S A MESSAGE in that last paragraph — the fact that the smaller a person is — in physical stature or intelligence — the more he wants to fight. It took a lot of swinging, but I finally learned to reason with my opponents rather than resort to violence.

Since my boyhood, reasoning has been a part of my life. There must be a reason for everything, including the reason politicians do this or that. . . .

The reason why the county district attorney overlooks some political wrongdoings and goes after others with vigor;

Why certain North County politicians can "con-vince" their tenants to block vote for them in general elections;

Why many Grand Jurors become disillusioned with that august body after only nine months;

Why city governments insist on spending federal funds — (it's still our tax money) because "it's available" for projects be they good or bad,

And; there must be a reason why the editor continues to let me write this gibberish. (Good point—Editor.)

BEING AS THIS IS the time of year when we all make resolutions — only to be broken — this humble (but extremely talented) columnist will endeavor to Continue bringing readers the behind-the-scenes facts. This column will Continue to let the chips fall where they may.

Whether the story involves San Francisco, Daly City or Colma, it will be told. While on the subject of Colma, this writer wants to make it perfectly clear there is absolutely No Basis to a story recently brought to our attention that a bribe was offered to "keep certain news quiet" by a Daly City official.

As far as we can ascertain, the rumor got root in Colma where a city councilman fertilized it and passed it on. Methinks that councilman has his locales mixed up.

The Shadow knows when, where and if such a bribe was offered in the men's washroom at an Oakland restaurant during a students' awards program last spring. We would hope the wrong story, apparently intended to reflect heat away from the real parties involved, will die quickly and be buried — in Colma where it was first exhumed.

PEOPLE AND PLACES — Former councilman Edward J. Dennis now director of public relations for growing First National Bank of D.C. chain . . . Outgoing fire chief Herb Ritzmann will be honored at retirement dinner at South City's Brentwood Lodge on January 21. Info from assistant chief Keith Schrock or captain Vern Brooke . . . South City police chief Sal Rosano announced promotion of five officers: Lt. James Datzmun and James Swinford to Capt., officers Norm Solari and Laurence Crafford to Sergeant; Sgt. Ray McKeon to Lt. Congrats all that.

THE POLICE LEADER is not on the best-seller list but it is gaining attention in police circles throughout the country. Daly City Police Capt. Dave Hansen in his second attempt at writing joined with DCPD's Lt. Tom Culley and produced a fine handbook on police activities — everything from patrols to public ceremonies. It gives the average reader — you and I — a keen insight into modern-day police thinking and training. Try it, you'll like it! Hansen's previous effort was a handbook commended by the FBI titled "Closed Circuit TV for Police," co-authored by detective John Kolbman.

Tourney at Skyline

Community College basketball tournament action comes to young Skyline College for the first time when athletic director and head coach mentor Walt Rillet hosts the Skyline College Classic today and Thursday.

The tourney pits two San Mateo Junior College District Colleges against a pair of Southern California teams. College of San Mateo tries to end its 28 game losing string against El Camino of the Metropolitan Conference in the opener Wednesday at 7 p.m. Skyline meets Santa Ana of the South Coast Conference in the 9 p.m. nightcap. Championship game is slated 9 p.m. Thursday, following the 7 p.m. third place contest.

Today the Post presents a review of the El Camino Warriors, which bring a 6-5 record into the tourney. They've been idle the past week after taking second place in their own annual Norm Verry Classic — beating San Diego CC in the opening round and losing the title game to Rio Hondo, 65-59.

El Camino earlier took the consolation title in the Miles Eaton Classic at Orange Coast, bouncing back from a tough 78-76 opening loss to strong Alhambra to top Treasure Valley (Ore.), 99-74, and Santa Ana, 84-66.

Two other Warrior losses came at the hands of top university freshman squads — UCLA, 85-79, in a game that was tied with one minute left — and 60-55 to what Bob Boyd calls his best USC frosh squad ever after a halftime deadlock.

Sophomore coach Bill Bloom's Warriors expect to get the favorite's nod at Skyline. But most of El Camino's hopes ride on the shoulders of sophomore forward Harlan Peet.

The 6-4 hometown product from Torrance's North High was the most consistent member of the 1970 Warrior squad, ranking second in the Metropolitan Conference in scoring with an 18.0 average and rating as runner-up to Dave Frost of state champion Long Beach CC in the Metro MVP balloting. He was the MVP of the 1970 Norm Verry tourney and has earned all-tournament honors twice already this season.

"Peet is the finest shooter I've ever coached," says Bloom. "He's extremely tough in every aspect of the game. He dives for the ball when it's loose and he's an all-around good competitor."

Returning guards Jim Montague and Mike Neal give El Camino the backcourt experience it lacked at the outset of last season. Montague (6-1) came on to rate as the Warriors' third leading scorer in 1970-71 and is their playmaker and a second team All-Metro Conference pick.

"He's extremely good against the full court press," Bloom notes. "And he can penetrate a zone defense as well as anyone I've ever seen."

Neal (6-0) was the Tribe's most improved performer last season, according to Bloom. "I think Neal is the best defensive guard in the Metropolitan Conference," asserts Bloom.

El Camino has its No. 6 man back in guard-forward Gary Richardson (6-2) plus a pair of top rookies in Fred Coker and Bill Kolodziejczak.

The All-CIF Coker (6-5) from Aviation High gives the Warriors an effective one-two punch at forward (with Peet) while the hefty Kolodziejczak (6-5, 208) can play either the post or forward. The latter was All-CIF in 1969 and 1970 and scored at an 18 point clip for his final three seasons at West High.

"We concentrate on getting the good shot," Bloom points out. "With our lack of height, it's difficult for us to out-rebound our opponents so we try to make each shot count."

Knights in Win Over Moonrakers

Wilbur Smith and Curtis Clark hit for 20 points each as the Black Knights rolled past the Moonraker 81-71 in Pacifica's Adult Basketball League.

Dave Stevens led the Moonraker's offense and scoring honors in the game with 24 points.

The French Club made it win number "3" by picking up a forfeit from the cellar-bound Rochester.

Kerri's remained in contention for second place as they cracked past Dial Glass on a forfeit.

Skyline Turns Ice Cold, Loses a Lead and a Game

By JERRY LITTELL

They say to be a top-flight athlete one must possess ice water in one's veins. Unfortunately in basketball, when that ice-cold feeling stretches to one's shooting ability you might as well forget about winning.

That's what happened to Skyline Junior College Thursday when the Trojans blew nearly a game-long lead in the final three minutes and lost a 60-53 decision to visiting Chabot Junior College.

The Trojans shot a miserable 29 per cent from the floor but still were in the game until three minutes remained. That's because Chabot, somehow 12-1 to this point, shot only 35 per cent. The nets were not singing from any friction. Each team also missed 10 free throws.

Four different times during the game Skyline built up as much as a 10 or 11 point lead only to have Chabot come back on the scoring of Brad Tauscheck and guard Curtis Wright, a long-armed fellow who personally demolished any hoped-for Skyline rally in the last two minutes with superior defensive plays.

Skyline just could not purchase a bucket from the outside. No one player was to blame although the guards had the most noticeable trouble hitting beyond the shaded area. Chabot, meanwhile, didn't shoot much from the outside and scored the majority of its buckets on follow-ups and layins.

Actually, except for the final few minutes it was a bummer of a game. Turnovers and missed shots reduced it to a somewhat-organized hunch game seen on any playground. A lot of physical action with few physical results.

Chabot had come off scoring efforts of 115, 106 and 99 points in the past week so the Gladiators were due for an off-night. But Skyline did play adequate defense and coupled with that off-night it held the visitors to their lowest output of the season.

Turnovers in the second half killed the Trojans. With a 33-23 lead three minutes into the second half, Skyline began forcing shots and throwing the ball away getting it up court. Chabot gratefully accepted the generosity and quickly closed the gap until the Gladiators took their first lead, 37-35, with 12 minutes remaining. It was nip-and-tuck from then on.

Twelve free throws in the final five minutes kept the Gladiators close and finally enabled them to slowly pull ahead. Skyline's last gasp came when the Trojans were tied, 50-50, with four minutes remaining. Chabot ran off six unanswered points in the next two minutes to clinch the victory.

Smith's One-Man 'Show'

By STEVE LOKKER

Ken Smith hasn't been tagged with the nickname Scrooge yet.

But following Thursday's cage contest against Crestmoor High, it won't be long coming.

At least not in the minds of the Crestmoor players and coaches.

Smith, Jefferson's 6-5 center, put on a one man show in the second half of the game to present coach Mick Kelly with an early Christmas gift, a 52-37 win over the visiting Falcons.

Smith didn't show that Holiday Spirit towards the Falcons as he poured in 25 points and came back with 21 of his team's 37 rebounds.

As deceptive as the Ghost of Christmas Past, and showing the sleek moves of one of Santa's tiny reindeer, Smith dominated both boards to the point of utter despair in the case of the Falcons.

When Smith was finally lifted, late in the fourth period, Crestmoor's cheering section gave him a round of applause. Most of it was joy brought on by him leaving the game.

Always seeming to be in the right place at the right time (and that happened to be under the basket), Smith sprinkled what had been a rather dull game with life and excitement.

He contributed 10 points and six rebounds in the first half of action as Jefferson managed to take a 20-18 lead. The tight and low score gives ample indication of what type of game it started out to be.

Neither squad managed more than a four point lead during those 16 minutes. The major problem posed was that of trying to stay awake.

But Smith changed all that in the second half. He woke everyone out of their dreams and began giving Crestmoor nightmares instead.

He connected for 11 points in the third period and helped to transform a two point margin into a 37-36 advantage. The fourth period saw him hit for only six points but his nine rebounds more than made up for the scoring letdown.

Holiday Hill Run Scheduled

Club Endspurt's holiday bicycle hill run up Guadalupe Canyon and Radio Roads to the top of San Bruno Mountain will be January 1.

The hill run covers 6.7 miles and the following divisions of competition are offered: Daly City resident, High School, Senior "A" Division, Senior "B" Division, Juniors 14-18 years old, Women, Intermediate and Veterans.

Persons planning to enter this race should meet at Westlake Park Clubhouse at noon January 1.

The race will start at John F. Kennedy School at 1 p.m.

SSF Picked Clean By S. Carlos Dons

They may have used the back door Thursday but the victory was anything but shy and retiring for the San Carlos Dons.

Executing two basic plays to perfection and embarrassing the visiting South San Francisco Warriors' defense, Dan Silva's Dons registered an 85-62 win that wasn't even that close and was getting worse as the game progressed.

San Carlos' front line, led by forward Karry Bell, just simply picked the Warriors clean with a back door play that left the Dons shamefully in the open under the bucket. A few were so easy they should have called time and volunteered to take it over, it being Christmas and all.

The Warriors were also inept at a few key spots also — like missing 14 free throws in the first half.

The Dons were super hot on other plays also. They ran a pick-and-roll to the bucket with deftness and when all else failed they drove the lane in the first half for six circus layins. It was overall the best game the Dons have played this season.

The Nearest Curling Club?

Want to win a bet? Ask anybody where the nearest curling club is to the Peninsula.

The odds are that somebody will confidently say some place like Minnesota — that is, if you can find anybody who knows what curling is (which might be another way to win a bet).

To answer the latter question and to make sure we're communicating, curling, very roughly, is that sport where people glide stones resembling tea kettles across ice and other people sweep the ice frantically in front of the stone, the object being to create enough friction to slightly melt the ice in order to move the stone—if it indeed needs moving—into a specially marked-off 12-foot circle 42 yards down-ice, and, hopefully, into a better position than the opponent's stone. Good sweepers can add as much as 10-15 feet to the length of a stone pitch, or even straighten out a curving stone. There is also the school of thought which says that the sweeping produces a sort of jet-stream which helps carry the stone further. But that is another story, because what the sweeping causes the stone to do is something curlers can argue until the ice melts of hot air.

About the closest curling comes to a sport with which a Peninsular may be familiar is lawn bowling. Or it could be called a sort of Icelandic bocce ball, although it's generally conceded that it originated in Scotland about 420 years ago.

BUT ON TO THE SECOND ANSWER, the one which wins you a free drink, or whatever. Folks, there is a curling club right here, yes sir, right here in San Mateo County — call the San Francisco Curling Club. And it's been here since 1958. Bonspiels (that's "games" in our parlance) are held at the Burlin game Ice Arena every Monday evening from about the middle of October to the middle of March. Men and women (that's right, Woman's Libbers, curling is a mixed-sex sport) from all over the Bay Area, most them originally from Canada, belong to the club.

The makeup of the membership is fairly typical of any club membership on the Peninsula — median age about 33, no teens, several college students, a few white collar workers, a few professional people, the majority being blue collar workers; and all very cordial, vice nice, very well mannered (Though perhaps the typicalness of the latter phrase could be argued.)

Curling, like cricket, is a game of etiquette. The rinks (teams) shake hands before each bonspiel, seldom is heard a disgusting word, and it's considered bad form if a player criticizes a teammate or gets angry. And, although in our first hand research on the subject we noticed that no curler was beyond tipping a little, it was never done on the ice.

ASIDE FROM THE FACT that the odds favor a person greatly if he's from Canada, which generally dominates international competition because with 1,500 clubs and more than half a million players it is Canada's leading participant sport, almost anyone can play the sport. In Canada, curling is done by children in their early teens to senior citizens in their 70s and 80s. Even the handicapped have been known to play successfully. And though many players have athletic backgrounds (in the San Francisco Club, for instance, there are a couple of college hockey players, two woman's semi-pro softball players and several golfers and bowlers, being an athlete per se isn't necessarily a requisite to play the game, though it does make it easier. There are even a few native born Americans in the Peninsula league who play well.

Now, we're wondering where all of this leaves us. We are neither extremely young, nor extremely old, nor handicapped — at least not in the generally accepted sense of the word.

We also have some athletic background. Yet, on the evening (Please See Page 14, Columns 2 and 3)

Eagles, Lions, Win in Boys Soccer Play

Jeff Glosser, for the Golden Eagles, got past the tiring Redbirds' defenders to score twice and wide out an early Redbird lead.

With Angelo Dapello streaking up the sidelines the Redbirds had attacked continuously, but Joe Condon in goal, Kurt Ricci and Jimmy Moorehead as fullbacks successfully defended their territory. Danny Lewbin, tin moved the ball down mid-David Dennison, Francois Marfield.

Paul Abrahamson for the Redbirds with good positioning broke up forward passes and set up counterattacks. Frank Wilsey was tenacious as usual. Ransom Massiglia moved the ball with more confidence. Jason Bruni in goal as usual was fearless in his saves. Tom Beal, Francisco Romero, Craig Weisenburger, Mitch Rosetti showed promise with continued play.

The under 8's may repeat as champions of the S.F. PAL winter league starting January 8.

Boys under 10

Lions 2, Tigers 0

The Lions again overcame the Tigers with Orlando Romero scoring both goals supported by Dan Arenal with better than average passing skill. Both goalies performed well, Eddie Horn for the losers; Nicki Macchi for the winners.

The Nearest Curling Club?

that we dared to play George Plimpton with a 38-40 pound hunk of granite, we learned a lot of humility; which translated means we fell on our can six or eight times, went right down the ice with the stone that time we forgot to let go, and maybe only one or two stones in the house (that's the circle, fans) out of about 40 tries. We won't tell you where the other stones went, but there is a certain volunteer curling instructor who must still have sore shins. He told us we were the only player in the history of the game who had ever managed to slice a stone toss.

AS IN ANY SPORT, gliding a stone accurately and gracefully across 42 feet of ice is only as easy as the skill that propels it. But imagine lifting 40 pounds of granite up at least a foot behind your body with one arm while in a crouched position, while balancing yourself on the ice with a broom in the other hand. That's tough enough, and you haven't even tossed it, yet! Now, you must gauge not only how hard to send the stone on its way (and you have to give it more push than you might imagine), but there is also the touch involved — you don't want to send it too far — and the accuracy, and the matter of curling it to get it around stones which would stand in the path of a straight toss. And then there's strategy, which can get very complicated and, well, it fairly well boggles the nerve endings. Which aren't in such hot shape when you've fallen on them six or eight times.

The curling — or, in our lingo, curving — of the stones, obviously, is how the sport picked up its name. You accomplish this by gripping the L-shaped handle on the stones and twisting your wrist away from your body as you release the stone, or toward your body, to achieve a sort of screwball in the first case and a curve in the latter.

The curler who figures out how to throw the knuckleball with one of those stones will conquer Canada, and Scotland, too.

The key to curling, say the experts, is the same key as there is to bowling, golf, pool, in fact, almost any sport — concentration. No matter how hard one concentrates on curling for the San Francisco Curling Club, however, all he's generally going to get out of it is glory and maybe a pin or a plaque. Curling in California — and there's only one other curling club in the state, in Southern California — is strictly and purely amateur. The biggest monetary prize ever laid on anybody in Burlingame is $5. To paraphrase Bugs Baer, in Burlingame, curlers play for their own amazement.

IN CANADA AND states roughly bordering the Great Lakes it's a somewhat different proposition. Most of the 25,000 curlers in the United States (up 7,000 from '65 are concentrated in that lake area, it's such a popular sport that many high schools have added it to their athletic program, and $2,000 cash prizes aren't uncommon. Among the most popular competitions are those with new automobiles as top prizes, and those contests are common. Technically, however, there is no such thing as a professional curler.

Despite the paltry monetary awards involved in curling in Burlingame, the club is hopeful of building up its league past its peak 40-50 participant mark, which allows for only one 10 rink league (There are four players to a side). They were apparently picking up momentum until Monday Night Football hit last year and cut into their ranks.

With a larger membership they could possibly improve playing conditions, which at the present are primitive at best. They are curling on skating, not curling ice, and there is a difference, although it's too technical to delve into in detail here. But broadly speaking, curling ice must be perfectly flat and level, like a pool table, while skating ice doesn't necessarily have to be that precise. Also, the ice will differ in conformity, texture, etc., from one bonspiel to the next, which of course it shouldn't. There are finer points involved, but you get the idea. Another problem is the ice rink itself. Again, it is a skating rink not designed for curling.

St. Michaels, 3 DC Teams Cop Tourney

Daly City's annual McGillivuddy Tournament, co-sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division and the Lions Better Youth Association, was held at Westmoor High School, Jefferson High School and the War Memorial Community Center.

The winners: Eighth grade, P.A.L. Bucks; Seventh grade, Holy Angels; Sixth grade, P.A.L.; Fifth grade, St. Michael's of San Francisco.

In the championship game the P.A.L. Bucks lead by Randy Yuzon defeated the L.B.Y.A. Bullets, 35-19.

The A.A.A. Warriors, sparked by Frank Colclough's nine points, downed the Holy Angels team for the consolation championship, 54-25.

Outstanding Players: P.A.L. Bucks, Rick Wyatt, Rick Yuzon; A.A.A. Warriors, Gus Anagnos, John Droll and Frank Colclough; O.L.M. Wildcats, Skip Cauchi, Kevin Herman;

L.B.Y.A. Globetrotters, Greg Zanders, Jim Ryan; O.L.M. Warriors, Kevin Herman, Mark Phillips; L.B.Y.A. Bullets, Randy Brooks, Robbie Anderson; Holy Angels, Jeff Bocci.

Holy Angels defeated Alta Loma of South San Francisco in a closely fought game to win the seventh grade championship, 42-36. In the consolation bracket A.A.A. downed L.B.Y.A., 45-13, to walk away with the consolation championship.

The closest games of the Tournament were played in the sixth grade. P.A.L. won the championship game over a strong Holy Angels team which kept coming back, 31-19. The consolation championship was won by O.L.M. in a close contest with A.A.A., 36-21.

In the fifth grade, St. Michaels of San Francisco defeated the P.A.L. Tigers, 37-32, in a see-saw contest to win the right to play Holy Angels for the championship.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

-To Our Many Good Friends!

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Rodeway Inn Sights Set For New Year's Eve

The Encore Room at the Rodeway Inn will be open for dining on Christmas Day, and General Manager Ted Downes and his staff are already looking ahead for a big turnout for the New Year's Eve celebration here. An exceptional package is in the offering, with $30 per couple being the cost for the evening. Included is dinner, a fifth of whiskey, and dancing to the smooth sounds of The Dealers. $15 more is the price being asked for overnight accommodations and a champagne brunch on New Year's Day. . . . Hospitable facilities and fine food are the ample reward at A. Sabella's, Fisherman's Wharf, to say nothing of its luxurious surroundings and intriguing view of the bustling activity along the Wharf. One complete story of the three-level restaurant provides facilities for banquets, meetings, receptions, business and social functions, as well as Holiday celebrating. . . . Holiday dining at Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco is an unbeatable combination of elegant surroundings and gourmet steak dishes, such as Veal Steak Armanino. This superb treat is prepared at the table by your waiter, using Danish Bleu Cheese for added taste excitement. Then the dish is flamed, just before serving, for a spectacular treat.

Harness Racing New Year's Eve—Bay Meadows

Under the sponsorship of the California Horse Racing Association, a new Harness Racing season opens Tuesday, December 28, at Bay Meadows in San Mateo. This meet runs through March 4, with the first race on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday being 1 p.m.; Friday night only the first race is 7:45 p.m. Everyone concerned with this meet, including Dr. William J. Ward, President and General Manager of the California Horse Racing Association, feels that this racing season will be the most colorful and successful in the local track's history. Dr. Ward, by the way, has been extremely busy the past few days helping to organize a lavish New Year's Eve celebration. To be held in the plush Turf Club at Bay Meadows, the gala event will feature dining, live entertainment, and numerous prizes. If you're really interested in a fun-filled and exciting evening, make Bay Meadows your destination next Friday evening and usher in the New Year.

Young and old alike enjoy pizzas — it's one of those food staples that has not lost any of its popularity since being introduced to these shores back in the 1940s. Fully aware of this fact is Enrico Romano, owner and operator of Romano's Italian restaurant, located in picturesque Rockaway Beach, Pacifica. He knows that in addition to people merely enjoying Pizzas, they appreciate excellently-made pizzas, and Enrico has gone to great length to see that each pizza which slides out of the ovens in his kitchen has been prepared with this thought of perfection in mind. . . . An early check-in on Friday is part of the New Year's Eve package at The Hillsdale Inn, San Mateo. Celebrants feast on a champagne buffet dinner, served from 9 p.m. to 11 p.m., then spend the remainder of the evening swaying to the dance music of the Eastman Trio. It's a late 6 p.m. check-out on New Year's Day, with a Bloody Mary brunch also being part of the $35 per couple tab. . . . Lew Lehr's Steak House, in San Francisco's Marina District, is a great place to enjoy a delicious steak dinner before going on to that New Year's Eve party. Lehr's will also be open from 5 p.m. New Year's Day, with the regular dinner menu, at regular prices, featured both days.

Food and drink to make you feel like one of the immortals, served in the romantic aura of the Islands: Over 100 exotic bibles like Gobi's Fang or May Grog.
The usual hats, horns, etc. but first — celestial dinners: Cantonese, American and East Indian.
Served by the natives from 4 p.m.

DEATHS

HAZEL WARNECKE

Hazel Warnecke, 69, of 1427 Rosita Road, Pacifica, died Tuesday in San Francisco.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning from the Nauman and Lincoln Chapel by the Sea, Pacifica, followed by a mass at St. Peter's Catholic Church. Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery.

Survivors include a brother Charles McGuire and sister Ella McBougald, both of San Francisco.

KATHRYN L. SMITH

Kathryn L. Smith, 79, of 469 Oak Avenue, San Bruno, died Dec. 19 in Walnut Creek. She was a native of Illinois.

Funeral services were held on Dec. 22 at the Chapel of the Highlands, Millbrae. Interment will be at Cypress Lawn Memorial Park.

Survivors include her sons, Marvin and Clinton of San Francisco and Raleigh of Santa Rosa, and daughter Maxine Jackson of San Bruno.

HERMAN J. BIELENBERG

Herman John Bielenberg, 59, of 130 Alta Loma, South San Francisco, died Dec. 19 in South San Francisco. He was a native San Franciscan.

Funeral services were held Dec. 21 from the Chapel of Nauman and Lincoln Mortuary, South San Francisco. Interment was at Woodlawn Cemetery.

Survivors include his wife Helen, son Herman of Oregon, daughter Mrs. Virginia Croft of San Jose, brothers Fred and Bernard of San Francisco, sisters Mrs. Edith Phelon of San Francisco and Mrs. Margaret Sever of Redwood City, and mother Martha Bielenberg of Redwood City.

FRANK HART

Frank Hart, 83, of 321 Madrone, Millbrae, died Dec. 20 in Burlingame. He was a native San Franciscan.

Private services were held Dec. 21 from the Chapel of the Highlands, Millbrae. Interment was at Woodlawn Memorial Park.

Survivors include his wife Emma and daughter Mrs. Frances Blomquist of Millbrae.

52 Attend FLBA Meet

Fifty-two members of the Future Business Leaders of America club, South San Francisco High School, attended the eighth annual luncheon at the royal Inn, San Mateo.

President over the day's activities was club president Wesley Quon and vice president Beth Beverage.

Among the guests were former president Bruce Ferrario, state FLBA vice president, Gene Mackey, Doretta Shimamoto, and Mr. Zaro, assistant principal, SSFHS.

Coub sponsors attending were Kenneth Farmer, Bill Hunter Dough Olson, and Anthony Peligrino.

Photographs for the yearbook were taken by Hal Symonds and club member Arthur Bray.

Boat Fuel Blast, Fire

A water heater was blamed for touching off a pool of gasoline inside a Pacifica garage Thursday morning which caused an estimated $15,000 in damages to the structure and powerboat parked inside.

Robert E. Domenichini told fire inspectors he had been working on his high-speed powerboat the previous night inside the attached garage at 546 Forrest Lake Drive.

Yesterday he smelled gasoline in the area of the powerboat and found the bottom of the boat flooded with gasoline.

Instruction in Yoga Repeated In Daly City

The Daly City Recreation Department's new adult yoga session will begin in January, directed by Jorge Jauregui. All classes will be held at Westmoore Clubhouse, 123 Edgemont.

Intermediates — Mondays, from 7:30-9 p.m., January 10 — March 13, $5 a student for the ten-week program.

Beginners — Wednesdays, from 7:30-9 p.m., January 12-March 13; $5 fee.

New Year's Eve Church Program

The Westside Baptist Church will hold its annual New Year's Eve Church Fellowship and Watchnite Service at 8:03 p.m., starting with games and recreation, directed by the Roy Peacocks and John Brooks. Slides or movies of interesting places visited by members while on vacation will be shown, and refreshments will be served.

The evening will close in the sanctuary with the watchnite service, which will include special music, a devotional, and time of prayer. This evening fellowship is open to the community. A nursery will be maintained for babies and toddlers.

Sunday at the 10:55 a.m. worship hour, Pastor A. David Donnelly will speak on the topic, "A Dead Church."

The ordinance of the Lord's Supper will be observed at 6 p.m. One adult and four youth groups will meet at the 7 p.m.

Family Fellowship Gospel Hour. Pastor Donnelly will speak on the topic "Why Christians Crack Up." There will be congregational singing, and testimonies centered around the theme, "My Desire in '72."

Early Sabbath Service Set

Congregation B'nai Israel will have a special early Sabbath service on Friday.

Starting at 8 p.m., Cantor Henry Greenberg will conduct the service.

Saturday morning services will begin as usual at 10 a.m.

The Men's Club of Congregation B'nai Israel will have its first meeting of 1972 on January 4 at the Recreation Hall, 2159 Junipero Serra Boulevard at 8 p.m.

Cow Palace Head Named

George N. Keyston, Jr., a director of the Cow Palace for the past four years, was elected its president at the annual meeting this past week.

In accepting the honor, Keyston follows in the footsteps of his late father, George N. Keyston, Sr., who was president of the Cow Palace in 1941 and one of the founding directors, serving from 1940-48.

The younger Keyston's connection with the Cow Palace dates back to when his father was president and he worked there as a messenger boy.

Keyston is president of Anza Pacific, a Burlingame-based real estate development company, and a trustee of Cogswell Polytechnic College. He is also a director of Keyston Brothers, the 104-year-old leather and saddle business in San Francisco.

For many years the Keyston family operated a large Hereford cattle ranch in San Mateo County, where Keyston was born and still resides.

Joseph G. Moore is vice president and a director. Other directors are John R. Metcalf, Robert McCarthy, Edward M. King, Sr., Jack Cooke, Donald D. Doyle and Anthony T. Mas-

S.M. Deputies Approve Pact On Salaries

The Organization of Deputy Sheriffs agreed Wednesday to a salary and fringe benefit plan totaling slightly over 5½ per cent for 1972. ODS President Richard Weaver reports.

Included in the plan, scheduled for consideration by the County Civil Service Commission at a special meeting Monday and by the Board of Supervisors the next day, is a five per cent wage increase, additional educational benefits and liberalization of retirement and uniform allowance benefits.

The salary plan will increase the top basic pay for a deputy with the maximum experience from $1042 a month to $1094. Educational benefits will increase from $60 a month to $90 for a deputy with an intermediate Police Officer Standards and Training (POST) certificate, and from $90 to $130 for a deputy with an advanced certificate. The retirement plan has been amended to allow a deputy to retire with benefits calculated on his single highest salaryed year instead of a three-year average of salary.

The uniform allowance has been expanded to include equipment, such as handcuffs and guns, with it no longer being necessary to itemize and receipt expenditures from the allowance.

Rec Center Work Slated

South San Francisco councilmen have authorized Park and Recreation director Bob Maxey to proceed with improvements to Magnolia Recreation Center, estimated to cost $15,000.

Listed as "recommended priorities for building modification" and submitted as an "urgent need," they were broken into three cost categories.

General building improvements were estimated at $4,500, general office improvements at $5,000 and senior citizens' facility improvements at $5,500.

Work will include installing partitions to provide an employees' lunch room, painting of the halls and restroom areas, and improvements in the senior citizen area.

Rabies Tests

A new San Mateo County law will require all dogs to have a current rabies immunization before they can be issued a license in 1972.

Shots will be given at a cost of $2.50 on Sunday, Jan. 9, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at 1024 Old Mission Road, South San Francisco

Baja Adventurers Escape Routine

By JOHN HORGAN

Tom Cullen is just like any other businessman. He has his good days and his bad ones.

There are those days when everything just seems to go wrong. The telephone rings off the hook, the mail is late and the coffee tastes rancid.

But Cullen, 36, doesn't let such minor irritants get him down. Instead of allowing life's little burdens to force him to the Roloids, he climbs aboard his motorcycle and heads for the hills.

Cullen is a cycle enthusiast. He has been one for the past two years. For him, the experience is a form of therapy.

He and another San Carlos businessman, Gailerd Smith, 40, decided to escape from the pressures of their jobs earlier this month by motoring through much of Baja, California, that arid spine of land which juts southeast from Southern California between the Mexican mainland and the Pacific Ocean.

The trip, which covered about 650 miles of the peninsula, took them 11 days. It proved to be something more than your normal vacation, especially for two individuals who lead the outwardly conventional lives of suburban males immersed in the business world.

Cullen, the father of three sons, says that the trip proved to be such a tonic for him that he is contemplating a return to Baja.

"I'd love to go back," he says. "I'd go back any time. I'd do it once a month if I could."

Cullen, frankly, is entranced by the Baja, its people, the mystique of the Mexican culture and by motorcycling itself.

And he got his fill on this recent odyssey.

Although there was no particular danger encountered on the trip, Cullen and Smith did have their share of adventure—the sort of stuff that makes for good listening around the Kiwanis Club bar back home.

At the outset, after the pair had left Mexicali and began working their way south into the Baja, Smith decided that any sleeping would not be done out on the open land. His reasoning was simple enough: He spotted a tarantula scuttling across the road and the hairy critter was as big as your hand.

Cullen says the only real danger in traversing that deserted area is getting lost.

Too often, he notes, what passes for roads there are really nothing more than dry washes. They are roads in name only.

At some points, the roads simply branch out into a myriad of different directions, Cullen adds. But they all come back together, sometimes miles on down the dusty line.

One of the oddities about traveling in the Baja is the presence of a handful of Mexican truckers who ply the barren peninsula daily.

"We came on one truck which had been stalled by the side of the road for 17 days," Cullen remembers.

"These two guys had been with that truck all that time. Time doesn't mean much there. We gave them some chocolate and some cigarettes. The rear end of their truck had been taken back to Mexicali for repairs. They expected it would be returned in a few days. Other truckers had taken their cargo for them."

On one particularly memorable evening — when the pair thought they had something more than modest lodging for the night — they stayed with a man and wife and their family of seven children.

Smith and Cullen slept on the concrete floor in their sleeping bags but one of the kids had something like whooping cough in the room next to the riders. At least it sounded like it to Cullen who recalls that, "I thought this kid was dying. He sounded so bad all night I couldn't believe it."

Several days later, in the coastal town of Mulege, Smith and Cullen had the opportunity (if you can call it that) to visit the Mexican government's unique federal prison.

The prison is a bit out of the ordinary by American standards because, Cullen points out, almost all of the inmates are let out during the day for work duty in town. The only men who are kept inside are those who are mentally disturbed. Cullen says the care of the mentally ill in that prison at least is not exactly up to 1971 western standards.

However, the other prisoners work in town until one of the guards summons them all back by honking for them on a conch shell.

Ground Broken for Stewart Chevrolet Co. in Colma

Joseph A. Montalbano, owner of Stewart Chevrolet Company, broke ground this week for a $1 million Chevrolet sales and service facility in the Colma Sierra shopping center.

Across the freeway from the Serramonte Shopping Center in Daly City, the building is scheduled for completion in May and will include 54,000 square feet under a roof on a 5.8 acre site, need the space to offer better Stewart's present staff of 50 will be increased to 65 with the move.

The pioneer Chevrolet dealership, founded in 1933, will continue to do business at their long time Mission Street near Army location until May.

"We are forced into this move because we are rapidly outgrowing our facilities... we need the space to offer better service to a growing number of customers," Montalbano stated.

Present for the ground breaking ceremonies were Ray Ottoboni, Mayor of Colma, William Woodin, zone manager for Chevrolet Motor Division; Hank Rampelt and Forrest Cain, assistant zone managers; Ron Sobrero, district manager, and Dave Herdman, manager, Motors Holding Corporation.

Judge Cohn Announces Court Duties

Presiding Superior Court Judge Melvin E. Cohn announced today the assignments for the coming year of the county's 13 Superior Court judges.

Judge Cohn was re-elected several weeks ago by his fellow jurors to serve an unprecedented third straight year as presiding judge of the San Mateo County Superior Court.

He has appointed Judge W. Howard Hartley to serve a second straight year as presiding judge of the criminal department, with Judges Robert D. Miller and Gerald E. Ragan being assigned as criminal department trial judges.

Judge Robert E. Carey has been appointed to act as judge of the Northern Department at South San Francisco, with Judge G. Brooks Ice, who has been in that department for the past year returning to Redwood City for general trial assignment.

Succeeding Judge Carey as judge of the Domestic Relations Department will be the county's newest Superior Court judge, Frank Piombo.

Judge Lyle R. Edson, who was appointed Juvenile Court Judge several weeks ago upon the elevation of Judge Allison M. Rouse to the District Court of Appeal, will continue through 1972 in that capacity.

Judge Frank B. Blum, who has been hearing probate matters during the present year, will continue in that department.

Golf Lessons Slated in DC

The Daly City Recreation Division will start its 1972 spring adult golf instruction program for beginning golfers with very little or no experience, February 1-2.

A Tuesday session will be conducted from 7-9 p.m. and a Wednesday session from 10 a.m. to noon, for five weeks.

Cost for the program is $10 a person.
